

PROCESS FOR THE MANUFACTURE AND FILLING OF FLEXIBLE POUCHES

Abstract of the Disclosure

Disclosed are flexible pouches including a process for manufacturing said pouches from preforms. Also disclosed is a process for manufacturing and filling said pouches wherein the preform/pouch is handled via the neck portion throughout the production line. In one embodiment, the filled pouch is further dressed, decorated, or inserted into a rigid outer container, for example a box. In a preferred embodiment, the production line is a modified version of the type commonly used for handling rigid containers, such as those used to manufacture and fill soft drinks.

H:\DOCS\CMP\CMP-1563.DOC
120803